Spend on medication and incontinence aids for urinary incontinence in the UK

According to The Urology Foundation,

"In the United Kingdom, at least 3 million adults cannot control their bladders as they would wish.

The condition affects far more women than men. It affects one in five women over 40 years old."

Between 2014 and 2016, spend on, and number of prescription items for, medication and incontinence aids for urinary incontinence has increased
